

Wright County CHNA 2023

Wright County's Community Health Assessment was developed in collaboration with Wright County Public Health and Iowa Specialty Hospitals. Other partners included members of the Wright County Transition of Care Committee, which includes representation from K-12 schools, law enforcement, long term care, small business, manufacturing, post-secondary educational institutes, non-profit organizations, and community members. Data was collected from a county wide survey using paper and digital reach, along with CDC statistics, County Health Rankings and Roadmaps, and the Wright County Health Equity Report Card put together by multiple sources (US Census, CDC, Federal Financial Institution Examination Council Health Indicators Warehouse, Behavior Risk Factor Surveillance Systems, HRSAQ-area Health Resource Filed, American Community Survey, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion). Wright County is a rural community with strong collaboration with partners in the health care system. As of July 1, 2021, Wright County's population was 12,785. Of these individuals, 83.1% are white and 13.9% are Hispanic or Latino. Wright County Public Health will follow the CHA CHIP cycle with Iowa Specialty Hospital every 3 years.

Mental Health awareness and support

In 2021, according to NAMI, 42% of adults in Iowa reported symptoms of anxiety or depression. 25% were unable to get needed counseling or therapy. Additionally, as evidenced by the 2021 Iowa Youth Survey, 39% of Wright County students surveyed had feelings of sadness almost every day for two weeks or more in a row. Data/Rationale

In the 2022 Wright County CHNA survey it was identified that when students graduated from high school, they did not have an understanding of the importance of routine medical care, routine exercise habits, healthy eating, or how to navigate health insurance. Additionally, residents that are retired identified they lacked understanding on how to sign up for Medicare, the importance of an annual doctor visit, what a SHIP volunteer could assist them with, how to plan for long term care needs, and how to select a supplemental insurance plan. The survey also identified first time parents lacked understanding of nutritional recommendations for children, the importance of developmental milestones, dental programs for children, and financial assistance available for food and basic needs. The committee felt that this particular priority fit within the Topic of Preventative Wellness and Immunizations and Access to Quality Health Services.

In Healthy People 2030, some of the Leading Health Indicators include: Persons who are vaccinated annually against seasonal influenza. Children, adolescents, and adults who use the oral healthcare system; and Adults who receive colorectal cancer screening based on the most recent guidelines. The CHNA committee felt this was an important priority to include in the CHIP and included sub-categories of Immunizations/Vaccinations, Annual Medicare Wellness Visits, Appropriate Developmental Milestones for Children, Elderly Fall Prevention, Age-Appropriate Screenings, Cancer Screenings, and Gaps in Healthcare Education. These sub-categories were identified as themes within the survey and carried over as objectives within the plan. Access to Quality Health Services

Data/Rationale

In the 2022 Wright County CHNA survey Access to Quality Health Services was listed as the top priority within ways to strengthen the healthcare infrastructure. Included in this priority was access to home healthcare services, the need to address national staffing shortages, and barriers for post high school education. The CHNA committee felt it needed to be a CHIP topic that included objectives that address those items in addition to chronic condition management, sexual health, elderly care, and reducing the gap for care and education for identified high-risk segments of our population. These opportunities coincide with the Healthy Iowans Plan, Healthy People 2030 and also reflect goals that could address opportunities identified within the data shared within the Iowa Community Indicators Program and 2022 County Health rankings and roadmaps.

Priority 5

Promoting healthier community

Data/Rationale In the 2022 Wright County CHNA survey, a number of themes emerged as priorities. The CHNA committee felt promoting a healthier community was the third highest priority to address. The survey identified needs in access to climate controlled safe walking environments, age appropriate before/afterschool programming, age-appropriate handicap accessible fitness facility, adequate outdoor parks and recreations, inclusive parks, inclusive fitness facility for members with disabilities, and the need to impact the rising incidence of obesity. The third priority of the CHIP was “Promoting a healthier community” with a goal to promote a healthier Wright County community by ensuring that all have adequate food and safe drinking water while promoting fitness and activity that are inclusive to all. This priority coincides with the Healthy People 2030 Leading Health Indicators of: consumption of calories from added sugars by persons aged 2 years and older, household food insecurity and hunger, and adults who meet current minimum guidelines for aerobic physical activity and muscle strengthening activity. It also aligns with the Healthy Iowans Plan and addresses identified opportunities within the 2022 County Health rankings and roadmaps. According to the CDC, Iowa’s overall obesity rate is 36% and continues to increase annually. The CDC also states that 22% of the adult population in Iowa have a disability. The CHNA committee felt there were actionable items and collaborative efforts that could help target the objectives within this priority.

The themes identified included access to fresh affordable foods, cost of nutritious foods, lack of knowledge on family nutrition and meal planning, lack of funds for elderly meals, lack of funds for school lunches, access to food banks, and a lack of options for meals outside of school/working hours. Food insecurity was included in the CHIP’s 3rd priority, “Promoting a Healthier Community.” Within this goal was the objective to Create a partnership with Extension Office, Wright County Food Pantries, Wright Ministerial Association, Wright County Public Health, ISH, Law Enforcement, Community School Districts and the local community leadership in the development of programs supporting food adequacy and safe drinking water for all.

The themes identified included access to inpatient and outpatient programming, workplace support for abuse, knowledge about youth usage, access for rescue medications with law enforcement, smoking/vaping cessation, vaping in schools, and drug use in schools. For the 2022 CHIP, alcohol and drug use was included within the #1 topic of Mental awareness and support with the goal to Promote Mental Health Awareness and Support through access and services to the constituents of Wright County.
